Are you fascinated by how the human body works? You may be interested in studying medical science or biomedicine in the future.

“Biomedical science is the study of the human body, its structure and function in health and disease”.

To learn about this fascinating course area, read about the biomedicine programs at the following three universities:

- Australian Catholic University: frequently asked questions about biomedicine and their new Bachelor of Biomedicine, www.acu.edu.au/690893

- Deakin University: course information and a video about their Biomedicine degree, www.deakin.edu.au/study-at-deakin/find-a-course/biomedical-science

- Monash University: information about the School of Biomedical Sciences, www.med.monash.edu.au/sobs/

Careers at Victoria Police: Do you have an interest in joining the Police Force in the future? Victoria Police has developed a series of short videos for prospective recruits that highlight the recruitment process and what it is like to be a new member of the Force. Macquarie University Information Day: Macquarie is a Sydney based university. An information day will be held Tuesday 6 January for prospective students and their parents. The institute offers world-class degrees and a real-world approach to learning, http://study.mq.edu.au/

Casual employment: With Christmas just around the corner, it is a very busy time for many businesses and employers are now hiring casual staff to work over the busy period. You can sign up for employment at the following business websites:

About 80% of all job vacancies aren’t advertised, so it is crucial that you market yourself to businesses with an excellent resume and cover letter.

Make sure you tell as many people as possible that you are looking for work as often employers rely on ‘word of mouth’ to advertise their positions.
